PREFACE

This undergraduate thesis tried to discuss about The Indonesian Interest in Effort to Fight Against WHO Virus Sharing Mechanism. As a sovereign nation, Indonesia should encourage the spirit of freedom from suppression, colonialism and nation struggle to become an equality respected with other nations. In the rapid of nation development, Indonesia facing world challenges that is growing more complex. One of the challenges is over come in the health problems that become serious attention in developing countries, because it related to human survival as a nation that could be expected to give his work for the nation. Health problems that break in developing countries are the appearing of viruses that happen as pandemic.

Appropriate mechanisms to resolve pandemic which set by the WHO, the country as the virus owner is required to send a specimens virus to do research for the human interest in the world. However, the WHO treats viruses such as commodity trade with commercialized after a vaccine. The cheating system is known at the end of 2006 when H5N1 avian influenza virus spreading in entire the world and the virus treating, using the system or mechanism known as the GISN (Global Influenza Surveillance Network). Indonesia goes forward as the pioneer for recommend the WHO to change virus sharing's mechanism for a new fair mechanism, transparent and Equal.
