ABSTRACT

This thesis tries to explain the role of UN in promoting and upholding human right in Turkmenistan during Saparmuort Niyazov era. Turkmenistan known as the most repressive country in the world, human right not enforced well here. UN's role very weak and ineffective in doing his duty to promote and uphold human right in Turkmenistan, UN cannot act too much in maintaining human right in this country, many reason caused the weak role of UN in doing his duty. The main reason is the clash of interest between prominent member states of UN it self which are Russia and United States of America. This thesis also tries to elaborate the involvement of Russia and USA in the case of human right in Turkmenistan during Saparmuort Niyazov era, try to explain the interest of Russia and United States of America in Turkmenistan. Bad enforcement of human right in Turkmenistan supported by the dictator leader of Turkmenistan which is Saparmurat Niyazov. He suppressed human right growth in this country to maintain his clout and control the natural resources of Turkmenistan. The dictatorship of Turkmenistan leader also become the reason caused UN's role weak and ineffective in doing his duty.
