

THE INFLUENCE OF SEX EDUCATION UNDERSTANDING TOWARDS STUDENT SOCIAL LIFE IN JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL 1 YOGYAKARTA

ABSTRACT

The research aims at (1) finding how far the understanding of students about sex education taught is, (2) revealing what kind of student social life in school is, (3) discovering whether or not there is an influence of sex education understanding towards student social life in school and it intends to prove empirically whether good sex education can influence student social life in school.

The sample used in the research is 28 students of class VIII in Junior High School 1 Yogyakarta. The sample collection was conducted with nonprobability sampling i.e. purposive sampling by using simple linear regression formula to find whether or not there is an influence of sex education understanding towards student social life. The data were collected by using two kinds of questionnaire that represent each variable, i.e. sex education understanding and student social life in school. The data was analyzed descriptively, using classic assumption test, t- partial test, and f test.

The result showed that (1) the student sex education understanding was good enough, (2) the student social life presented a very good result, and (3) the result of hypothesis test proved that sex education understanding did not influence significantly towards student social life in the school.
