ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Assalamu'alaikum Warrahmatullahi Wabarakatuh

The author of this page would like to offer sincere gratitude to Allah Subhanahu wa Ta'ala for His guidance and blessings during the process of finishing the undergraduate thesis at Universitas Muhammadiyah Yogyakarta, Faculty of Political Science, in the International Relations program. I express profound gratitude towards Prophet Muhammad Sallallahu 'Alaihi wa Sallam for serving as a profound source of inspiration and guidance in several facets of my life, including my current academic endeavors. The author sincerely thanks Zain Maulana, S.IP., M.A., Ph.D., for his essential guidance and assistance as my academic adviser. The individual's specialized knowledge and support have been crucial in influencing the trajectory of this study. The author would like to express gratitude to Grace Lestariana Wonoadi, S.IP., M.Si., Ali Maksum, S.Sos., M.A., Ph.D., Dr. Ratih Herningtyas, S.IP., M.A., and Muhammad Faris Al-Fadhat, S.IP., M.A., Ph.D. for their contributions and support for their significant efforts as esteemed members of the board responsible for proposal evaluation and thesis examination. The valuable feedback the individual provided has significantly enhanced this piece's overall quality. Special thanks go to Ms. Atiya Fadila, S.IP., for her assistance as a language advisor in Muhammadiyah University Yogyakarta's International Relations program. Her expertise in linguistic matters has significantly improved the clarity and coherence of this thesis.

Wassalamu'alaikum Warrahmatullahi Wabarakatuh.

EXTENDED GRATITUDE

This page serves as an expression of profound gratitude towards those individuals who have provided unwavering support, both spiritually and morally, throughout my years at university and during the arduous process of completing my thesis. Additionally, I would like to send my heartfelt appreciation to the following individuals personally:

1. Under the divine guidance of Allah SWT, I have completed my undergraduate thesis with the invaluable support and teachings of Prophet Muhammad SAW, who has been a guiding force in my life for the past 22 years.
2. My parents; Papa and Mama, for their diligent efforts in nurturing me to the point where I can independently complete this thesis. Additionally, I am deeply appreciative of their unwavering support, prayers, and well-wishes during the entirety of my 22-year journey. Being your offspring is considered a fortuitous circumstance and will perpetually remain a source of gratitude throughout my existence. I am offering this undergraduate thesis as a token of appreciation, aiming to convey to the recipients the profound impact they had on my motivation and inspiration during the writing process.
3. My brothers and sisters; Mas Yudha, Ka Uti, Kakak, and Ka Zulfa, for their significant roles in shaping my life. The absence of your presence would render existence mundane.
4. Mr. Zain Maulana, S.IP., M.A., Ph.D., as my advisor for my undergraduate thesis. I express my gratitude for your invaluable assistance in facilitating the completion of this thesis.
5. All the lecturers and staff members of the International Relations Department at Universitas Muhammadiyah Yogyakarta. Their dedication to imparting new knowledge and their efforts in designing comprehensive curricula have greatly facilitated my optimal learning experience.

6. Sheila, my first friend since college, has always been my first day facing every challenge on campus and a reminder for every class, assignment, quiz, and exam. And for everything you have done, I cannot mention it one by one.
7. Bunge, for their invaluable support and contributions since high school, has consistently been my unwavering advocate, providing steadfast support during challenging and prosperous times.
8. Subarji, Gensananana, and my colleagues from the IPIREL community. I would also like to acknowledge the invaluable support and companionship provided by individuals such as Rizka Rannisa, Bia, Awie, Widya, Ida, Rani, Aura, Ocha, Daeng, and others. These individuals have played a significant role in assisting me throughout my academic endeavors, offering their unwavering support during moments of joy, challenges, and sorrow throughout my university experience.
9. To people around me cannot be mentioned one by one, for their unwavering support and help as a student.
10. Last, I must acknowledge my dedication and perseverance in completing this undergraduate thesis. The preceding days I had been characterized by intense physical exertion and the presence of blood. I appreciate your presence in composing this comprehensive expression of thanks. I am grateful for the countless hours dedicated and several instances of emotional support. Acknowledging that the successful completion of an undergraduate thesis can serve as evidence of one's ability to overcome various hurdles encountered in life is essential.
