DEDICATION PAGE

Okay, where should I start? Firstly, I would like to express so much gratitude to my mother, Dyah Utamaniyu Suprapti, for being patient all this time raising me. I know we are not the most solid mother and son, and I occasionally dismissing your order. I know you've been through a lot as a single mother raising her only child, And I know you always lecture everything for the sake of my own good. However, I do understand all of your suffering all this time. Without telling you, I'm always thinking independently to improve my well-being, working harder than mediocre standards to raise our family's dignity. More importantly, I'm lucky to be your son, and I'm lucky that I ONLY have you. Because that means the only person that I have to cheer up is you, because, you're my only loving mother. Thank you, Mom, you have endured a lot. I'll make sure you don't have to endure more by the time I give you this thesis.

Next, I would like to highlight every party that I acknowledge as my supporter during the making of this thesis;

1. My brother and sister of "you know what group" that were outraging certain people just by existing; Mufti Tursina and Dinul Qoyyimah. Thank you for the daily midnight meeting. It was a stress reliever. Your encouragement and company to support my every step is priceless.
2. Genk Dingo. Randy, Adylla, Syifa, Ikky, and Mufti. I understand this group is made solely for this HAHA. Tho we don't always hang out in Dingo. That name is confusing at times. Importantly, thank you! I'm lucky to be part of a group that contains so many ambitious people.
3. My old friend group, my bedrock of everything in college; Faizal Bagasworo, Bintang Anugrah, and Aryo Gumilang. Thank you for showing me opportunities. Without all of you, I won't be able to taste the joy of struggle. TO ARMS, SOLDIERS! Haha.
4. My Social Service group, Sastra, Erwinsyah, Tiar, Tika, Ulik and Nawang. Thank you for the quick one month. I'm sorry I can't be the ideal leader you all wanted, but I hope to be more empathetic in the future.
5. Everyone from various organizations I was in, friends I made along the way that helped me in college, and organizational affairs, I'm sorry I can't write you all down in one paper, but thank you for growing with me guys!

Now for the FINAL and MOST IMPORTANT PART! ME! Bro! damn, you've transitioned so much by your second year of college. The past you might not even recognize you today. You have been:

1. The best thesis maker; your peers won't even think to write this in English but you managed to outclass everyone that is SUPPOSEDLY writing this in English.
2. The best English speaker; your TOEFL score said it for itself. Tho you should stop comparing it to others. Even so, it has been your advantage to many opportunities!
3. The strategic career builder; Bro some people called you "visionary", "Talented" and "Commander" haha. For good reason! You've been through hard times building alternate career skill sets, and IT PAYS OFF! Congratulations bro, you've been an intern at a renowned healthcare company outclassing your mates and being hand-to-hand with people from various renowned campuses! You're amazing. Don't undermine your worth!
