Acknowledgement

Above all, I am expressing my profound appreciation and boundless gratitude to Allah SWT for bestowing His many blessings, enabling me to persevere and complete this thesis. Blessings to the esteemed Prophet Muhammad SAW, who has guided humanity from a period of ignorance to the enlightened era we currently live in. In addition, I would like to express my gratitude to my supervisor, Miss Evi Puspitasari, S. Pd., M. Hum., for her invaluable guidance throughout the development of this thesis.

My parents have showered me with love and prayers throughout my life, and I am grateful to them. I wish to thank my parents for the trust they have given me to make my own decisions in life. I would not be where I am now without their sacrifices. Being their child has meant the world to me, and words cannot express my gratitude enough. I am also very grateful to my three older brothers, Bang Amad, Bang Ijal, Bang Otong, with whom I often argue but who are never too busy to lend a helping hand when I need it.

I thank my beloved friends Dwi, Nabila, Hana, Ara, Muti, Lintang, Dila, and Isna for proving that friendship in education is not as horrible as people say. You guys show me that college relationships can be supportive and helpful, and I am grateful God sent people like you to help me through college. Dear Seli, who has been my closest friend since we were kids, we have been through a lot together, and distance hasn't stopped us from being there for each other. Devi, Fatin, and Shei, who always listen to my final-semester ramblings, thank you for the four months we spent together on the student exchange program and the friendships we have forever had; our roommateship is a blessing.

I extend my heartfelt gratitude to SEVENTEEN, who have been a steadfast source of comfort throughout the challenging phases of my thesis journey. Discovering them has been a true joy. The magical lyrics of their song "Kidult" remind me that growing up doesn't mean we can't shed tears like children. Though adulthood often brings its share of sorrow, they reassure me that I am the central figures in my own stories and that I possess great worth. Despite the many hardships that bring tears, their message encourages me to keep living and moving forward.

Lastly, I would like to express my gratitude to myself. My dear Wiwi, I admire your determination to keep on trekking despite the numerous thorns in your path and the fact that you refuse to let this discourage you from giving up. Get a grip and be positive; you have already reached one of your goals, and there are plenty of other stunning destinations out there just waiting for you to explore them.

Sincerely,
