DECLARATION

I here with

Name : Reska Marlina

NIM : 20190410378

Study Program : Management

Faculty : Faculty of Economics and Business

Declare that the thesis I wrote for one of the requirements for earning this bachelor's degree, "Inclusive Leadership and Its Impact on Job Satisfaction and Employee Productivity" is entirely original. After conducting research, receiving advice, participating in discussions, and presenting my exam results, I created my thesis. All quotations, direct and indirect, from books, articles, or other sources have been accompanied by the source's name in the manner customary in scientific writing. The complete content of this scientific article is still my responsibility, even though the examiner team and the thesis supervisor have signed to validate it. I'm prepared to suffer the repercussions if a mistake is discovered later.

DEDICATION

I dedicate this thesis to those who always ask:

"When will your thesis be finished?"

Graduating late or not graduating on time is neither a crime nor a disgrace. How small would it be to measure a person's intelligence only from who graduated fastest? Is there a better thesis than the finished thesis?

There may be something behind their late graduation; believe me, the reason I am here is entirely reasonable.
